

NATIVITY NEWS FRIDAY 13TH DECEMBER 2024

Many of you have commented on how much busier the courtyard is this year and this has led us to make the difficult decision not to hold our Nativity play there.

Coram have been very supportive and tried to find us an alternative venue but we have struggled to find a room which can hold upwards of 200 adults and children.

Quite incredibly, our friends at St George the Martyr Church have stepped forward and offered us use of their space for the afternoon of Friday 13th December.

The beautiful surroundings will enhance our production perfectly but we will need to make some additional arrangements.

Here is our plan:

- We will meet you in the Coram courtyard at 1.40pm. We will then join you with your child.
- We will then walk together to Queens Square.
- Once we arrive, we will ask you wait a while whilst we get dressed and ready.
- The performance will run from 2.15-2.45.
- You will then be able to leave for home directly from the venue once we have checked you and your child off from our registers.
- If you are not able to come, we hope to have sufficient staff to be able to walk with the children whose families cannot come.
- If your child does not usually attend on a Friday you are very welcome to meet us at the venue at 2pm
- Children who go home at 12:30pm please meet us at the venue at 2pm
- Children who go home usually at 1:30pm should stay at Nursery with their Keygroup and parents meet us in Courtyard at 1:40pm and walk with us to the venue
- If you usually collect your child at 2:55pm you will collect and leave straight from venue
- Please note that all buggies (Toddler parents only) will have to be folded once at the venue
